About Me

- Born in İzmir, the West Coast of Turkey
- Graduated from Bilkent University, Communication and Design, with a minor degree in Graphic Design, June 2019
- Became a Scuba-Diver, 2016
- Worked in my university's Underwater Student club as chair-woman
- Working at Balıkgözü Underwater Film Production company and continue to work underwater documentary projects and movie sets
- Created Wasty Talk as my graduation project which is a documentary and socially responsible project about decreasing plastic consumption and marine litter in Turkey. My interest in underwater cinematography and documentaries increased during those years.

KİRLİ KONULAR

This documentary only lasts 12 minutes but plastics last forever.

- Plastic consumption and how plastic is polluting the sea & harming marine creatures.
- Created with the urge of existing not enough audio-visual content about environmental issues in Turkey, especially in mainstream media.
- Specialized in Turkey coasts, and local problems.
- With a communication language targets a wide range of the audience.
- 12 Minutes long, tries to explain essentials in a short period time
- Not only a documentary but also on social media
